The kitchen unit consists of several sections. On the left, there is a tall cabinet housing a built-in oven. To its right is a narrow cabinet with a sliding door. The main section features a long countertop with a sink and faucet, a cooktop, and a row of drawers and cabinets below. The upper cabinets are white and reflective, showing the surrounding environment. The lower cabinets are also white but have a more matte finish. The countertop is a dark, solid material. The backsplash is a light, neutral color. The lighting is a combination of recessed ceiling lights and warm-toned under-cabinet lighting.
